

Abstract

The European Spallation Source, {\sc ESS}, will use a linear accelerator delivering high current long pulses with an average beam power of 5 MW to the target station at 2.5 GeV in the nominal design. The accelerating structures, why each structure is chosen, their design and the beam dynamics performance in each of them is presented.